Welcome Information!

Silas Cornstassel was sitting on a plow in a field thinking of his income tax, and the money he had to pay the government for the same. As he chewed on a piece of straw he saw a friend and neighbor rushing through the field toward him. When the man reached him he exclaimed breathlessly: "You're wanted at home right away. St. Mrs. Cornstassel has just presented you with another rebate off your income tax."—Exchange.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 13

PAUL BEFORE THE ROMAN GOVERNOR.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 24-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Herald do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offense toward God and man.—Acts 24:16.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Luke 12:4-12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Paul Was Not Afraid.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Secret of Paul's Courage.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Defense Before a Roman Governor.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Defense Before Felix.

I. Paul Accused (vv. 1-9)

Tertullus, perhaps a Roman barrister, formally made the accusation according to Roman law. He began with flattery. He gave Felix the fullest praise when he and all the people knew that he lied; for Felix was one of the worst governors—destitute of morals and justice. He brought a four-fold charge against Paul:

1. "A pestilent fellow" (v. 5). This would indicate a fellow utterly base and corrupt—a plague.

2. An inciter of rebellion, a mover of sedition (v. 5). This they hoped would bring him into conflict with the Roman power.

3. That he was the ringleader of a sect—a schismatical party—a heretic (v. 5).

4. That he had profaned the temple (v. 6).

II. Paul's Defense (vv. 10-21).

In this defense note:

1. Paul's frankness and courtesy (v. 10). Flattery is entirely wanting. He gives recognition of the fact that Felix had been ruler of this people long enough to be able to judge justly, as the habits and ways of the Jews were familiar to him; and then, in a dignified manner, assumes that Felix will render a just decision based upon the facts of the case.

2. The charge of sedition denied (vv. 11, 12). He flatly and scornfully denied this charge, showing its utter falsity, since the time was too short, being but twelve days since he went to Jerusalem, and half of that time had been spent as a prisoner of the Romans. His conduct while there disproved it—he disputed with no man in the temple; neither did he make any attempt to incite the people in the city nor in the synagogue.

3. The charge of heresy (vv. 14-16). This charge he met by a concession and a denial. He admitted that he was of the "Way" which they called heresy, but clearly showed that it was in keeping with the Hebrew religion: (1) he worshiped the same God (v. 14); (2) he fully believed in the same Scriptures (v. 14); (3) he had the same hope of a coming resurrection of the dead (v. 15). He declared that he made as the principle of life a conscience void of offense before God and man.

4. The charge of sacrilege, or profanation of the temple (vv. 17-21). This charge he refuted by showing (1) that he had come all the way from Greece (v. 17) to worship at the feast; (2) that he had not come up empty-handed, but had brought alms for his nation (v. 17); (3) that there were not competent witnesses present to testify as to his behavior in the temple (v. 19); by challenging his enemies to testify as to his conduct in the council (v. 20).

III. Paul Before Felix the Second Time (vv. 22-27).

This is a sort of a sequel to the trial. Wicked as Felix was, Paul's manner somewhat won his favor, though he did not release him. His sentence was indulgent imprisonment, which kept him free from his enemies while under Roman protection. Felix sent for Paul that he might hear of Christ from him. Paul behaved himself aright before these sinners in high life. He reasoned of righteousness, self-control and judgment to come, before Felix and his sinful wife, with such power that Felix was terrified and declared that he would hear Paul further at a convenient time. This was a most flimsy excuse for not changing his life and granting justice to Paul. He was so in bondage to sin that he was unwilling to change. Alas he hoped that by delaying matters he would receive a bribe.

The Lord Changeth Not.

And I will come near to you to judgment; I will be a swift witness against false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the Lord of Hosts. For I am the Lord; I change not.—Malachi 3:5, 6.

Strategy.

"Now, you fellows, help yourselves to the cigars," cried Smith genially, after dinner. "They are some my wife gave me for a birthday present."

Gently but firmly, man after man vowed that he had sworn off smoking and the dinner party ended in a ghastly fizzle.

"Whatever did you tell such a fib about those cigars for?" asked Mrs. Smith, in angry surprise when the guests had departed. "You know very well that I gave you gloves for a birthday present."

"Oh, that's all right, Mary," replied Smith blandly. "That box of cigars cost me $11 and I can't afford to give any of them away."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

The Truthful Witness.

There was a little squabble down at the boot camp and the next morning three rookies were lined up in front of the commanding officer. Two of the marines were principals in the fracas, and the third was a lone witness. The C. O. drew a reluctant admission from the two batters that they had exchanged a few blows, and he then turned an inquiring eye on the witness.

"And were you there at the inception of the altercation?" asked the C. O.

"No, sir," said the rookie, "but I was there when the fight began."—The Leatherneck.

A Busy Twenty Minutes.

In the next ten years astronomers have but 20 minutes in which to test Einstein's theory. During the fleeting moments of the solar eclipses they will work strenuously in an attempt to discover any deflection in the rays of light that pass the sun.—Scientific American.

DO YOUR TOES SPREAD OUT?

Mary E. Bayley, R. N., Tells What, in an Expert's Opinion, the Feet Should Be Like.

Does the great toe of your foot (or the big toes of both feet) continue in a straight line from the heel? And do your other toes spread apart? If this condition exists you have good under-standing feet, according to Mary E. Bayley, R. N., who tells in the Delinquent what feet should be like. Her article has been approved by Dr. Virgil P. Gibney, surgeon in chief of the Hospital for the Relief of the Ruptured and Crippled, New York, and therefore bears the stamp of authority.

Too much care cannot be taken of the feet, Miss Bayley continues, as they are the keystone to correct body position and have much to do with one's health. Particular attention should be paid to shoe fitting between the ages of nine and fourteen, since this is the period of growth and expansion. Stockings, too, come in for discussion, as tight-fitting ones compress the toes and interfere with the circulation.

Worry in Store.

Harold Lloyd is telling the story of an old darkey "ex-in" who took two or three days to sign and grow his way through the income tax paper.

"An' now Ah got more worry," he announced after he had noted the last "I" and crossed the final "T."

"What's wrong now?" asked Harold. "Now," was the answer, "now befo' Ah can pay mah taxes Ah got to hunt all 'round an' locate the federal taxidermist's office."—Philadelphia Ledger.
